

Optimization of Occlusal Splint Fabrication Workflows: A Within-Subject Pilot Comparison of Conventional and Digital Modalities

Osama Qadiri, BDS; Haya Alsharif, BDS; Chao-Chieh Yang, DDS, MSD; Mohamed Omar, BDS, MSc.
Graduate Prosthodontics program, Indiana University School of Dentistry

Aim: This study aimed to compare analog and digital workflows for occlusal splint fabrication in terms of occlusal splint design, fabrication, and clinical adjustment.

